OBJECTS AND METHODS.

The Church Home provides for children who are temporarily or permanently deprived of a home. No children are received under four years of age, no boys over six, no girls over eight, except by special vote. The children are brought up in the care and according to the doctrine of the Episcopal Church. Each case is investigated and registered, and board for the children is required when parents or friends can pay. The Home in South Boston can accommodate seventy-five children — fifty girls and twenty-five boys.

The Placing-out Department places boys and girls. Boys are placed when nine years old, in carefully selected families of Church people in the country, board is paid for them until they are old enough to be placed free, or earn wages. Girls are placed in families at whatever age seems best for each individual. They are constantly supervised by a paid visitor.

The parents or friends are visited, and all children are supervised when they leave, whether returned to their families, boarded, placed free or earning wages. When at too great a distance for visiting, supervision is by correspondence, and the rector of the parish is asked to take charge.

SECRETARY'S REPORT.

The report of the Corporation confined as it is to the more strictly business interests of the Home is necessarily brief.

The Treasurer at the last annual meeting was empowered to apply to the Legislature for the right to increase the amount of property the Home can hold, and it is now authorized to hold real and personal estate to the amount of $500,000.

The Home has been the recipient during the year of three legacies, one of $9000, from Mrs. Henry A. Rice, announced last year; one of $5000, from the Rev. Arthur Lawrence, D.D., in memory of his father and mother; and one of $500, from Mrs. Edward Cordis, a member of the Board of Managers from 1879 to 1895 and who died June 2nd, 1908.

Two other deaths we would record, that of Miss Rosine Howard, for a comparatively brief term a member of the Board of Managers, and that of Mr. Robert Treat Paine, for many years an interested and influential member of the Board of Trustees.

The revision of the Constitution of which notice was given a year ago comes up for final action at the annual meeting. The changes proposed are all in the interest of greater simplicity of organization and, it is hoped, gain in effectiveness of service.

REGINALD H. Howe, Secretary.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF MANAGERS.

The Managers of the Church Home submit the following report for the year ending October 31st., 1910. Since its foundation in 1855 this organization has always tried to help needy and unfortunate children. The work falls naturally into two main divisions, the care of the children who live in the Home and the care of those placed out. This report deals entirely with the former.

During the year many children have been cared for, and at present there are 55 in the house. On a foregoing page it is stated that the Home can accommodate 75 children: and one naturally asks, "Why then is it not full?" This can be explained as follows. Through the Associated Charities, cases can be more easily investigated than formerly, and a more selective admission results. Also the family has come to be a main issue; and thus, wherever it is possible the family is kept together. Therefore, the smaller number of children in the Home does not necessarily mean that the work has ceased to grow.

On the whole the health of the children has been good and they have regularly attended the public schools and have stood fairly well in their classes. Two boys and one girl got double promotions in the primary school, one girl graduated from the grammar school and another from the High. Each Sunday morning the children have gone to the parish church and in the afternoons the Rev. E. N. Bullock has had a service in the chapel, and afterwards instructed them. Miss Whitmore trains the choir and the singing is hearty, and joined in by all the children. The class of candidates for the Girls' Friendly met again during the winter every other Saturday. Their meetings were partly religious and partly social, for while a short service preceded the sewing, a little dancing usually followed it. The girls succeeded in dressing a doll and in making scrap books and a baby quilt, most of which were sent to Alaska, and thus have begun to lay the foundation of a truly missionary spirit.

The staff govern the children kindly but firmly and give careful attention to their bodily needs. But the Church Home stands for something more than the physical welfare of its charges, important though that be. The home and religious influences are strongly emphasized, and the former boys and girls often express their appreciation of the training they received there. For example, in May the matron suggested that upon Decoration Day they should have a reunion at the Home. This was done and an informal reception was held from two to six. More than thirty, one boy among them, came and had such a good time seeing each other and telling what they had been doing, that several of the girls went to Miss Hauser and asked her if they might hold the reunion every year. The boy and some of the girls stayed for supper when one table was set for them.

A special day that is always kept is Children's Day. The date is set by the Bishop, this year the afternoon of May 12th. On this afternoon the children are the hosts and after a service in the chapel, they entertain their guests, among whom are children of other parishes, in the school room with recitations and other exercises.

Two of the managers visit the Home each week, and report upon its progress to the Board at the monthly meeting. The routine work is carried on through eight committees. Of these, the Household Committee has only just been formed, and so has done no active work this year, but its duty will be to supervise all household expenditures and changes.

During its first year of work the reorganized Purchasing Committee has been endeavoring to systematize the method of purchasing supplies by buying, at wholesale and in large quantities, the furnishings of the house and the clothing of the children in the Home. A good beginning has been made and it is hoped during the year to perfect the arrangement.

Since Nov. 1st, 1909, twenty-five children have been dismissed from, and thirty-five admitted to the Home. The Committees have taken or dismissed these children after careful consideration of the report of the visitor, who makes a thorough investigation of the cases in cooperation with other charitable societies. Many cases have come to us of worthy parents, who through poverty and trouble can see no way to care properly for their children themselves, and therefore apply to the Home to take The Visitor, by advice, and by finding for them other means of help, is often able to assist the family to keep together. For instance, there was a case of a widow whose little girl was taken temporarily until something could be done to keep the family together. There is no relief society in the place where this woman lives, or they would have been asked to supply means to enable her to support her children under her own care. The Visiting Families' Committee has been able to raise enough by getting aid from the Saunders Fund and private subscription, and this with the Overseers' aid and an older daughter's earnings enables the mother to keep the home for her three daughters.

When, however, the surroundings are hopeless or injurious, the Home takes the children and does its best to care for them and supply their needs.

The Committee on Visiting Families keeps in close touch with the families of the children in the Home. It sees that the board is paid, and when in its judgment, a child should go back to its family, brings the case before the Committee on Placing Out and Dismission, which in turn sees that the child is at once dismissed from the Home. This year fifty families have been represented in the Home. Children of 10 widowers, 14 widows, 4 deserted wives, 6 unfit parents, 9 cases one parent ill, 5 cases both parents dead, 4 cases illegitimate, 8 cases guardianship taken or pending, 4 cases have outside guardians, 13 families visited by others.

The board decided this year for the first time that the Church Home should take guardianship in certain cases, and it was left to the Committee on Visiting Families to decide which cases should be so safeguarded. In four cases this has been accomplished by the kindness of the S. P. C. C.

It is often difficult to keep the mother, father or relation up to paying the board agreed upon. Sometimes it has to be lowered or even waived in times of stress, or again, it has been found that more should be paid, and the sum asked has been raised. One father, a widower, had two children at the Home. He agreed to pay full board. He was out of work for a long time, and did not seem to see the necessity of trying very hard to get it. He was not allowed to think that he might have his children supported by charity, while he did nothing. The final outcome is that he is now living with his parents, and his sister and the children have been returned. 12 families are unable to pay, 2 pay full board, 10 pay regularly, the rest in varying degrees of irregularity.

The Industrial Committee arranges for the industrial education of the children. During the summer sewing and laundry classes were held twice a week for the older girls. But the greatest educational triumph was in the gardens. Here the children worked zealously and joyously, and to them it seemed a tremendous achievement to have raised the vegetables which several times they had for dinner. Our only regret is that we did not have a plot for each child.

Another bright feature of the Industrial Committee is to arrange for the outing classes during the summer. The usual daily bathing at the South Boston Beach and frequent excursions to Revere were continued for the girls. An experiment was tried with the boys, which proved a great success. Mr. Parker took charge of them twice a week, sometimes in the morning, and sometimes in the afternoon. A quotation from his letter to the Committee illustrates what he did:

"Tuesday, June 28th, I went to the Home for the first time, and succeeded in getting on easy terms with the boys, playing with them and reading to them. The next two mornings I took them swimming.

On Friday, the 8th, we had a very successful trip to Franklin Park, the boys feeding the squirrels, and a small treat before going home made a good ending. The days when we did not take a trip the boys went in bathing, and I feel that the children had a good time, and I hope were benefited by the two months' outings."

Thanks are due to the Children's Aid, the Legal Aid, the Associated Charities, the S. P. C. C. and other societies, to Dr. Taylor, our dentist, and other physicians, who, by their coöperation and advice, have aided us in working up our cases: also to all the friends, churches and societies, who, by their gifts, have added greatly to the children's comfort and pleasure.

The visitor, Miss Mackay, with an assistant, keeps in close touch with the families and children. There are no stated times for visiting, as this part of the work is very human, and has to be governed by circumstances. Sometimes it is necessary to visit a child several times a week. Again, if things are going well, perhaps a month may go by, in which case the child is kept track of through correspondence.

We have made several improvements in the furnishings of the Home. An attractive playground, well gravelled and graded, affords an opportunity for out-of-door play and exercise: but we feel that there is more to be done. The Home is an old-fashioned building with much space, which, with changes, could be used to advantage. The children have only one room in which they can play. They need several full of sunshine and air. They need individual toys and individual places in which to keep them, as much as they need individual towels. They need places where they can gather in small groups where they can play house and other games dear They need chairs which they can move around, into the child's heart. stead of benches, in their playrooms. There are also many sanitary changes which the Board would like to make. The matter is now under consideration, and we hope that our friends will reserve part of their generous contributions to charity for our benefit.

Meantime we believe that the house, in its work of rescue and shelter, is fulfilling a real need, and we hope that, by the use of the most effective methods, it will go steadily forward, firm in the faith that the child and the community are inter-dependent, and that the greatest good of the child is attained when he has learned the lessons of self sacrifice and loving service to his fellows.

PLACING-OUT AND DISMISSION COMMITTEE.

This Committee reports that their work has been continued during the year along the same lines as before, and with perhaps fewer serious problems to face than in some other years. The number of boys in our care does not vary much, viz., 18 boys in boarding homes, 5 boys in free homes and 21 boys under partial supervision; this last class consists of those who have returned to parents or guardians, and of others considerably older, who are self supporting. In dealing with these we have had great assistance from one of our trustees, Mr. Fenno, for which we are very grateful. One of our difficult, if very attractive, boys we were fortunate in getting admitted to the George Jr., Republic which will give him just the training and discipline coupled with some responsibilities which we feel will be everything for him now and in the future, and we watch his progress with much interest. His board there is paid by his mother, a widow, who lives out and earns good wages. Letters received from him are cheerful and happy and very satisfactory.

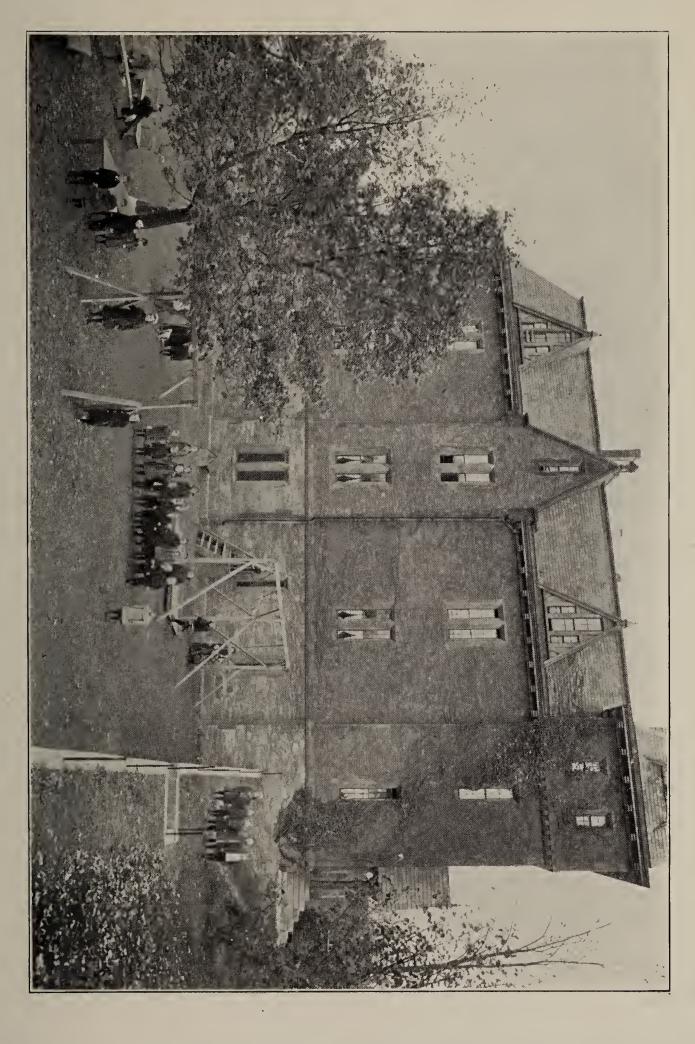

We have another boy in his second year at the Berkshire Ind. Farm. We have taken into our care the four boys who have been in charge of the Children's Aid Society for several years, which brings to an end the pleasant co-operation which has existed between us, and we are glad to acknowledge the great help we derived from it.

We have taken legal guardianship in a few cases, some of our trustees kindly signing the necessary bonds. Our boarding homes seem to have been more satisfactory than ever before, we have added some excellent ones to our list. There have been no serious illnesses among the boys, but teeth, eyes, ears and adenoids seem to demand constant attention, and we have several very delicate boys.

There are seven girls placed out just now, and 23 graduates under partial supervision. There is not much of special interest to report about them. One girl with tubercular trouble has been taken from her home which was detrimental to her welfare both physically and morally and boarded very near the Franklin Park Hospital School which she attends, and with special medical care and the country life her improvement in five months time has been wonderful. Another girl who has been doing housework in a private family has entered a training school for nurses. She felt that she wanted a definite purpose in life and she is very happy in her work. It is gratifying to be able to report that most of the girl graduates are doing well. The routine of monthly visits to boarded children was interrupted for a short period during the illness of one of our visitors; but except for that it has been going on regularly, and we feel that the work is running very satisfactorily and smoothly in the hands of our two valued visitors.

For the Committee, FANNY L. CURTIS.
